Redmond Transit Center

The Redmond Transit Center provides transportation infrastructure that serves downtown Redmond and was built at the site of an existing bus transfer facility. The new transit center improves passenger loading, provides six new bus bays, includes weather protected passenger shelters, improves pedestrian crossings and added bus layover capacity. The project also completed street improvements nearby and created a pedestrian-friendly environment.

Mode
Bus

Highlights
Start of service: February 2008

Location: Northeast 83rd Street and 163rd Avenue Northeast in downtown Redmond

Budget: $6.9 million

Funding partners: Sound Transit, King County Metro Transit

Planning partners: Sound Transit, City of Redmond, King County Metro Transit

Consultants & contractors
Preliminary engineering and environmental documentation: KPG and King County Metro Transit
Final design: KPG and King County Metro Transit

---